HARTFORD CONNECTICUT

FOREWORD

AS the afternoon sun, surrendering its lofty position to the lengthening shadows, sinks into oblivion, so we too are brought to realize that our day has come to an end and that we must depart.

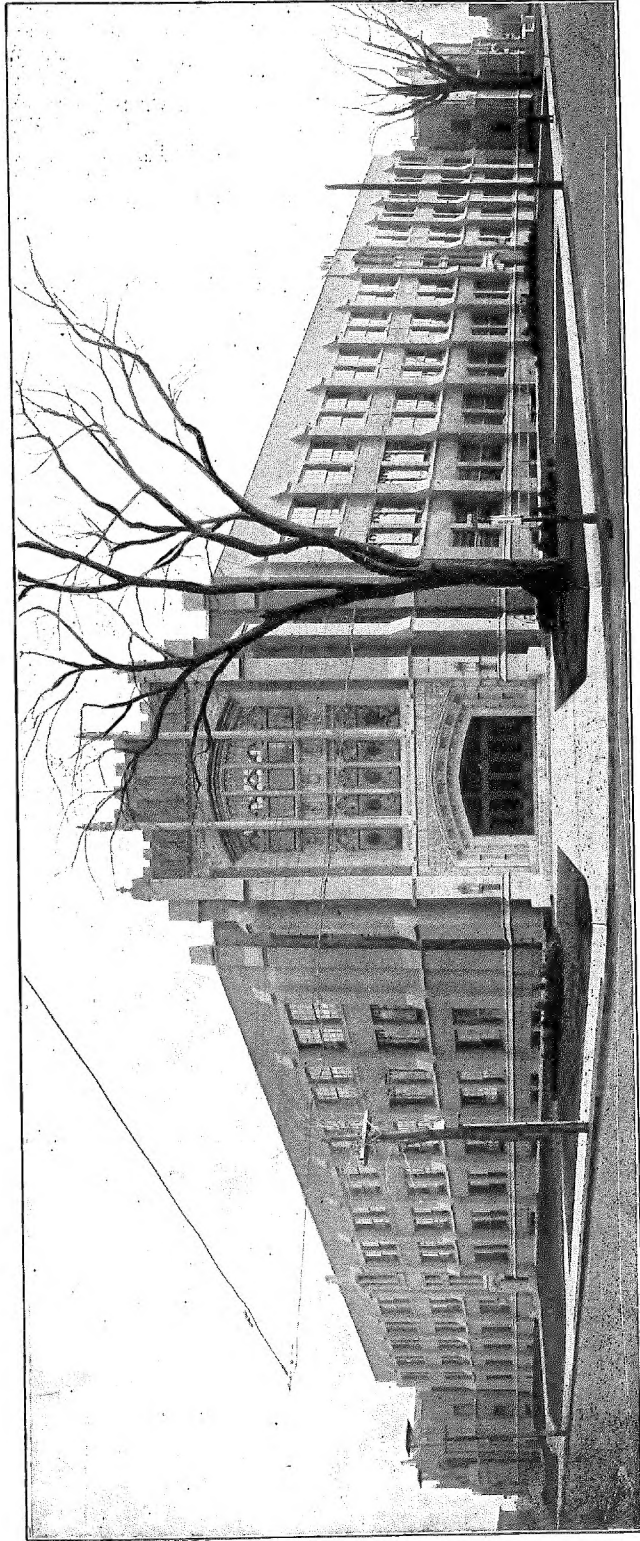

During these especially trying days, we know not what the future holds for us, but we do know that the background acquired here and the ideals formulated and nourished in our minds will stand us in good stead, whatever our lot may be.

If, long years from now, after you have removed the accumulated dust from this cherished volume, the pages serve as a pleasant memorandum of the years spent at Bulkeley High, our efforts in preparing this yearbook will have been fulfilled to the utmost.

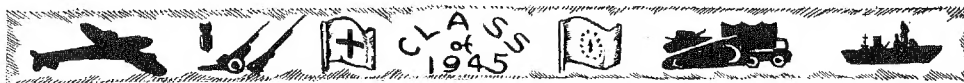

Tomorrow we march onward beneath that banner of fearlessness unfurled for us by our late illustrious President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. We are confident that we, the Class of 1945, shall be remembered as the Class of Victory and Peace.

To our parents whose sacrifices have made this day possible; to Dr. Feingold for his excellent advice and untiring aid; to the entire faculty for their sincere interest in us, and especially to Miss Potter for her unstinting assistance; to Miss Safford, Loretta Sullivan, Eugenie Andrzejczyk, and the Art Staff for their fine work displayed throughout; to the typists Dolores Lisella, Grace Rametta, Marion Zajicek, Marion Pikul, Wanda Gajewska, and Anne Maillet; to all those who have contributed candid camera shots, with special credit to Matthew Paskov; and to the office staff for their invaluable cheerfulness and assistance—our most grateful thanks.

OUR PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

IT has been given to few generations since the dawn of civilization to live in such a cataclysmic age as this. You yourselves have either witnessed the proof, or have heard first-hand accounts from your parents, of such revolutionary developments as the automobile, the radio, the sound film, the airplane, insulin, penicillin, the sulfa drugs, the conquest of tuberculosis and pneumonia, and the discovery of the role of vitamins in the building of bodily health—to mention only a few of the far-reaching discoveries of the past forty years.

And now in your own lifetime, nay during your brief high school years, you have seen the greatest upheaval that ever shook the structure of this man-made world. You are witnessing history in the making on a colossal scale. Certainly you cannot complain of boredom; neither can you attribute dull wits to dull times. It far more becomes you to cry out:

“The time is out of joint; O cursed spite!

That ever I was born to set it right.”

To “set it right,” however, is your holy mission by reason of the opportunities for intellectual and spiritual development which have been yours, and by reason of the sacrifices already made by your brothers, your friends, and your neighbors.

Millions of war victims cry out of their graves:

“To you from failing hands we throw

The torch; be yours to hold it high.”

You cannot ignore their appeal, for that torch is the torch of freedom, of human rights, of justice and mercy. They gave their lives to rescue these as they were being trampled under the crushing feet of a brutal and insensate enemy. Yours is the duty to preserve and enlarge them and to pass them on to future generations.

If permanent peace is not established now, within your lifetime, it never will be until another world-wide war, even more devastating than the present one, is fought all over again. For it is only when nations feel the horrors of war that all the people are eager to unite for the establishment of peace. A lasting peace can come only out of an enduring victory and such a victory is now being forged. Be it yours to forge a corresponding peace!

To have lived during the administration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, architect of democratic cooperation and world unity, is in itself a stimulus of the highest magnitude. No responsive soul could have escaped being inspired and encouraged by his magnetic personality and lofty ideals. It is to have lived in the days of the Prophets and in the days of Washington and Lincoln all combined within the space of your lifetime.

The Class of 1945 may well be designated as the Class of Peace, and it goes forward to greet the dawn of a happy day and a joyful life for those who are fortunate enough to be young in years.

S. A. 2, 3, 4; Girls' League 2, 3, 4; Girls' Glee Club 2, 3; A Cappella Choir 4; Upper Class Choir 2, 3. Never tardy. Burr Junior High School.

Ellen's fine voice won her a berth in the A Cappella of which she is justly proud. Everyone who knows her has heard about her great enthusiasm for flying, too.

HENRIETTE MURIEL ALLARD
"Etta"

"Mildest manners and gentlest heart."

S. A. 3, 4; Girls' League 3, 4; Senior Dramatic Club 3, 4, Treasurer 4; Senior Literary Club 4; French Club 4. Never tardy. Hartford Public High School. Nurses' Training School.

Etta is a girl who is easy to get along with. Her sweet disposition will carry her far in life.

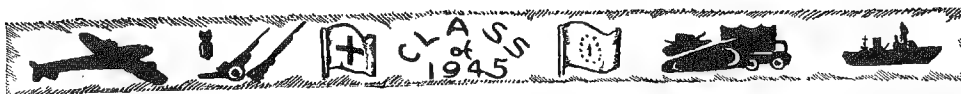

BARBARA PATRICIA ALLEGRETTI

HENRY JAMES ANDERSEN

"Let thy words be few."

S. A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Boys' Club 2, 3, 4. St. Augustine's School. U. S. Navy.

Henry was not very noisy in school, but we know that he always seemed happy and carefree. However, outside of school he was all out for fun.

BETTY LOUISE ANDERSON

"Bet"

"Ready, willing, and able."

S. A. 1, 3, 4; Girls' League 1, 3, 4; Ni-No-Van 2, 3. Never tardy; no demerits. Southwest School.

"Whitie"

"Where all is harmony, calm, and quiet."

S. A. 1, 2, 3, 4; Girls' League 1, 2, 3, 4; Table Captain 4; Senior Literary Club 4. Never tardy. Washington Street School.

It is too bad Gret hasn't been with us longer. But in her short stay she has made a distinct hit with the masculine sex with her cute features and cheery smile.

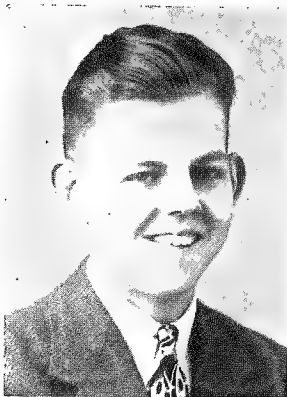

CHARLES STEPHEN ATAMIAN

"Bud"

"Quietness is best!"

Boys' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Science Club 1. Southwest School. Charles was a quiet boy in school, but his friends say that outside he was quite a different person.

Fran has a manner which has put him high in the opinion of his classmates. His quietness is not due to his lack of ability, but to his modesty.

EDWARD FRANK BANIA

"Barney"

"Quietly he goes his way."

S. A. 1; Boys' Club 4; Baseball 2, 3, 4. Never tardy; no demerits. Washington Street School. Notre Dame.

JOHN EDWARD BASSOS
"Jack"

"I never think of the future; it comes soon enough."

S. A. 2, 3, 4; Boys' Club 3, 4. Burr Junior High School.

About the only thing that worried Jack was whether he could get down to Colt's in time for work. His boisterous manner and crazy antics in the gym class will be sorely missed by the lower classmen, if not by "Babe" Allen himself.

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS

PARENTS, TEACHERS, AND FRIENDS:

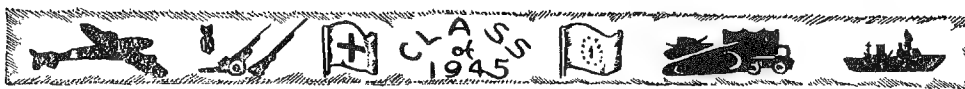

On behalf of the class of 1945, it is my privilege and honor to welcome you to our Class Night exercises.

Only three months after we entered Bulkeley High School as freshmen, our nation was plunged into this world conflict. This has made us a little more serious than previous graduating classes. But tonight we have chosen capable representatives to bring to you a glimpse of the lighter side of our life at Bulkeley. Together, here at this school, we have enjoyed not only our studies, but many athletic contests, social events, and enlightening club meetings. Through these extra-curricular affairs we have formed friendships which have enriched our lives and which will remain with us when we leave these halls and go out to accept the challenge offered by the world.

In behalf of the graduating class, I want to take this opportunity to express thanks to our parents for allowing us to enrich our lives through education; to thank Dr. Feingold for his counsel and guidance during these four years; to express our appreciation to the members of the faculty who have prepared us mentally, physically, and morally so that we may in the very near future, each in his own way, carry the war to our country's enemies; so that we may in future years become better citizens, not only of our country, but of the world.

Once again I welcome you to the Class Night exercises of 1945.

RALPH HOLT

CLASS ORATION

POSTWAR WORLD AERONAUTICS

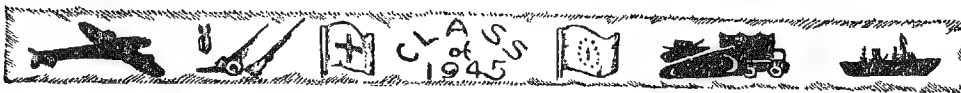

OST of you older people sitting here now probably remember the days when the latest thing in traveling was the railway. Very probably you thought then that covering the ground at fifty miles per hour in a railroad car was something to talk about for weeks ahead. As you sit here now, you say that that was quite some time ago; way back in the dim dark ages of the early 1900's. In the span of a lifetime that is indeed an appreciable length of time. But the transformations that have taken place in that period in the field of travel would be noteworthy if they had required as much as one hundred years for accomplishment.

As the majority of you probably recognize, the greatest strides have been taken in aviation. Formerly a trip to Siberia or Finland meant spending not hours, not days, but many tortuous weeks tossing about on the sea. Now this can be accomplished in a matter of hours alone in the comfort of a smooth-flying plane containing all possible luxuries. Travel by air is daily becoming safer and safer, because the pilot's worst enemy, poor flying weather, is now being overcome by the fruit of the labor of our engineers' hands and brains. With de-icing equipment a plane can fly as high as desired in safety. With pressurized cabins and electrically heated suits, people can fly anywhere, to any height, in solid comfort. With foolproof instruments for guidance a pilot can carry himself and his passengers home through any kind of fog or storm.

Definite routes for planes to follow, expert navigation, weather predictions, and frequent radio-calls as check-ups make for the progress of international air commerce. It requires only common sense to see that the air is now the place to travel, especially for those engaged in occupations which take them long distances at home or abroad. These are the people who will tell you that time is a very vital element nowadays, and that there is no faster way to travel than by air.

We are continually hearing of thousands of troops being transported by air to defend America. In the planes in which they fly today, you people will be visiting relatives thousands of miles distant tomorrow.

Do not believe, however, that aviation is just for the "big fellow" with the enormous plane or pocket-book. Within ten years we shall see families touring the national parks in small, light, inexpensive planes just as today—or rather yesterday—people took automobile rides in the country. Today the light plane is approaching nearly the same gateway through which the motor car chugged twenty-five years ago. Civilian aviation may even be further along its own highway, because there are already many more suitable fields on which light planes can land than there were good roads then. Planes will be easier to fly and, when volume production is reached, more economical to buy, operate, and keep repaired.

Postwar private planes now possess in their designs and capacities a great fascination for anyone who has the least bit of interest in flying. Many companies have already started to turn out postwar planes, such as the Republic Company with its newest model, the "Seabee." This is a four or five-passenger amphibian light plane which is beautiful to look at and costs only around $3,000. Other companies such as Glenn L. Martin, Boeing, Lockheed, and Stinson have also promised to turn out something in a light plane, and will probably do so before long. The Aeronca Company is now probably the most advanced in this field, and has already put out planes which are priced from $900 to $30,000, the latter being called "air yachts."

The sky will not soon be overcrowded with light planes. But the sun is already rising on a day when it would be unwise not to consider how closely private aviation may parallel private motoring.

All of you have, I am sure, seen one of those great, glistening, silver monsters of the sky winging its way overhead, carrying war-important people to desired destinations. These are the birds of the various civil aeronautics companies. To date there are only about four major civil airline companies, but something tells us that more are on the way. These companies should not be considered, especially by you who have relatives in the Air Force, as impractical groups of over-ambitious men who are out just for money. Instead, they should be looked upon as havens for your returning boys, as opportunities to which they can immediately turn the skills which they have acquired during the war years. There will be jobs first of all for all types of mechanics, on aviation parts, motor assemblies, and a thousand other building and welding jobs. Then there will be a place for plane designers, young men with creative minds and hands who can turn their knowledge toward the betterment of flying and toward the safety and comfort of mankind. Then, too, there are the technicians who will design specific engine parts, electrical wiring systems, control and radio equipment, resulting in cheaper yet stabler planes. Jobs for people who actually like the air are those of aerial photographers, working for news companies or just for themselves. There will be a place for men who will test planes, parachutes, and all newly invented equipment. Lastly there will be a place for the man who can pilot. He will be the important man, the one who has all the fun. Just as all these men worked together during the war, fighting and dying, so will they stay together working with one another after the peace. The airline companies know this. On this hope and belief the new companies are being founded.

These are only a few of the many possibilities in postwar aviation. Think them over. You will come to realize that the limitless heavens above provide many opportunities for our returning heroes, as well as comfort, cheer, and friendliness for each of us.

CLASS ESSAY

ON FINDING FAULT

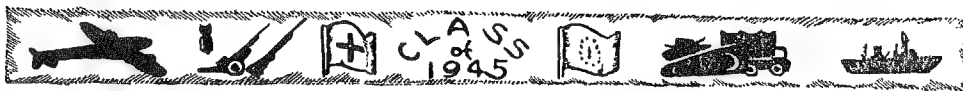

WAR! What is its significance to the common people, the nobody who doesn't fight in the front lines? It means more than constant fighting and a great loss of life. On the homefront it denotes sacrificing a little, and so it is necessary that we endure rationing, shortages, and transportation curtailment. Yet there are people who are continually "griping" and finding fault about "such-and-such" a plan. This feeling is not peculiar to wartime, for fault finding has existed since time began. We even find it in mythology when we read of Midas' complaining that his desired gift from the gods, the power to change things to gold, was a useless and empty pleasure. However, finding fault is much more noticeable and evident in wartime. Yet why should this play such a dominating part in our lives, for we gain nothing from it?

Today rationing is the favorite topic of conversation for those people who are continually seeking cause for finding fault. There's the housewife who deplores the fact that she doesn't know what to prepare for meals because she hasn't any red ration stamps left. Dick complains to a friend that he was refused extra gasoline while the man down the street was granted an additional amount. However, Dick failed to acknowledge that the man down the street is an electrical-appliance repairman, who needs the additional gasoline to carry on his business.

The position of the ration board workers is an unusual one for they are constantly faced with numerous complaints, strange and sometimes amusing stories, and queer people. One day an old maid of fifty went to her local board and complained that she didn't have enough meat to feed her large family of cats. When she was told that she could have no extra ration points, she stalked haughtily out of the room. Before long she appeared at the ration board again to apply for extra points for an elderly invalid whom she had married. "I wasn't in love with him," she said in her high-pitched voice, "but I figured I could use some of his extra meat points for my cats."

Much friction is caused by the complex forms and regulations of the rationing system. Obviously, in the establishing of such a Gargantuan program as wartime rationing, there inevitably must be some complications and ambiguities. It is not too surprising that there are such apparent paradoxes as the fact that you can get extra gasoline to remove a dead dog "for processing," but none to take the carcass to a burying place; that preferred gasoline rations are permitted vermin exterminators, but not diaper laundries. It is through our system of rationing, however, that shortages can be coped with, and everyone is entitled to an equal share in whatever material can be obtained.

Recently I was talking to an English girl, the wife of an American soldier, who had arrived in this country a few months ago to stay at the home of her mother-in-law. She was overwhelmed by the abundance of food and clothing we have here. "You have it easy," she said. "This complaining about shortages and rationing is silly. You can't imagine either how it feels to walk through the streets no longer fearing the danger of enemy planes overhead. During a bombing one time, I was in a tea-room. From there I saw a young boy, running through the street, struck down and badly mutilated by falling debris. You can't conceive how it makes one feel."

Yes, we are irritated by trifles. True, we don't get so much as before, and we have to dispense with some of our former luxuries, but when you stop to think of our fighting forces, we're living not only comfortably, but truly extravagantly well. Think of the hardships and discomforts they are enduring! However, they readily and efficiently adapt themselves to the situation. A soldier, stationed "somewhere in France," wrote me about the living quarters furnished him and his buddies, namely, a barn. There was no running water there, and so they washed out of their helmets. "It's not such a bad place," he wrote, "more comfortable than many have."

Finding fault (as I previously stated), which has been present throughout the centuries, is especially prevalent now. If we cannot dispense with it entirely, let us crush it to insignificance. We could lead better and happier lives without it. When tempted to find fault, let's say to ourselves, "Is this really necessary?"

CLASS HISTORY

Time—1970 Place—Editorial room of DAILY-TORCH

Characters—Editor, Stanley Mah Co-Editor, Mary Tummillo

Setting—Editor Mah is seated at desk; when Co-Editor Tummillo enters, he rises to meet her.

M. A. T.—Ryan just finished the column. It's pretty good. Would you like to read it?

S. M.—Yes. (He takes paper and reads the column to himself.) Why, I almost forgot that next week our graduation class will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary.

M. A. T.—It doesn't seem that long since we left Bulkeley.

S. M.—No. But do you remember 'way back in '41 when so many of our class were still in the Burr Junior High School? How anxious we were to get into Bulkeley, and how much we wondered about the reception we would receive from the freshmen who were there, and whom we would join when we entered as sophomores.

M. A. T.—Yes, I remember. And then when September, 1942, finally rolled around, we found ourselves in the corridors of Bulkeley, faced with the difficulties of locating the right classrooms and learning the names of our teachers.

S. M.—But you recall that it wasn't long before we found that we were in the midst of friends. Those whom we joined as sophomores were most helpful. They told us all about the characteristics of our teachers, and the mysteries of the cafeteria, study halls, and assemblies, and made us feel right at home.

M. A. T.—Yes. And another pleasant surprise came when we discovered that Bulkeley opened a half hour later than the Burr Junior High School did, making it possible for us to sleep a little longer in the morning.

S. M.—The Girls' League-Boys' Club dance opened the long awaited social calendar soon after school started.

M. A. T.—Then along in November Torch Nite rolled around. Sophomores added new talent to the success of it. Lorraine Daigneault made her debut as a dancer and Rita Luzzi demonstrated her skill with the accordion.

S. M.—We weren't very successful in sports that year. However, the newcomers Romano, Ucich, and Mularz were bright spots in a disappointing season.

M. A. T.—I thought we won the city-title in basketball that year?

S. M.—(emphatically) No. You're thinking of the following year's team. The baseball season went along fairly well, and our Bulkeley Babe Ruth made his appearance as "Bunky" Ramsey.

M. A. T.—When we were juniors we all assumed new airs. Yes, I remember we felt sophisticated, being upper-classmen.

S. M.—Yes, that year we weren't shunned by the seniors. Even the lower-classmen looked up to us then.

M. A. T.—Wasn't that the year "George Washington Slept Here" was put on by the Senior Dramatic Club?

S. M.—Yes. It went over big. Albert Dessureau and "Ginger" Senatro played Mr. and Mrs. Fuller, a city couple who moved to a suburb of Philadelphia. Vinnie Vallario played the lovable gardener. He certainly gave the audience lots of laughs.

M. A. T.—Torch Nite was a success that year, with Rita Luzzi at the accordion and Lillian DeCamillis pounding the keys in a solid boogie beat.

S. M.—Why, it was also that year that the football season wound up with a good record, with four lettermen, Salvatore, Schwerdtfeger, DePaolis and Mularz hoping to return for another profitable season.

M. A. T.—It was also in the winter of that year, 1944, that the Sno-Frolie was inaugurated and from then on was one of the social affairs most looked forward to.

S. M.—Do you remember the lively debate which the Agora and Legislative Club held on the subject of Federal Aid to Education?

M. A. T.—Why, sure I do. Claudia Barker and Jane Sexton were the junior representatives for the affirmative. Salvatore Satriano was the only junior boy on the negative side.

S. M.—Along in May the juniors had a grand time grabbing partners for the Junior Prom.

M. A. T.—Angelo Salvatore was head of that gala affair. (Pause.) Didn't the baseball team make up for the poor showing of the track team?

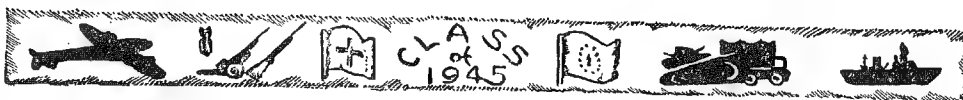

S. M.—That's right; our baseball team ended with a good average.

M. A. T.—Our junior year closed with many headaches over marking period tests—but we survived.

S. M.—Ah, we finally reached the high and mighty senior class, and became the idols of the green little freshmen.

M. A. T.—"The Torch" got off to a good start with Anne Ryan and Salvatore Satriano as co-editors. Philip Stent served as Business Manager.

S. M.—Bulkeley turned to a Minstrel show for Torch Nite with Raymond Snow as Master of Ceremonies, "Petunia Blossom" Ramsey and "Clarissa Crum" Custer. Bill Ricci also sang his now famous "Desert Song."

M. A. T.—Wasn't our football team that year the best we had in our four years at Bulkeley?

S. M.—That's right. Why, we couldn't help winning with such stellar men as "Bud" Schwerdtfeger, Jack Carroll, "Goo" Mularz, "Tarz" Clemens, Fran Mayeda, and Dick DePaolis, just to mention a few. We also beat New Britain that year for the first time since the school was opened.

M. A. T.—Why, the Bulkeley thespians scored a big hit that year in presenting "Every Family Has One" with Vincent Vallario, Dick Pobuda, Selma Herrmann, and Phyllis Bogardus taking part.

S. M.—Weren't Philip Stent, President of the Honor Society, Charles Ramsey, head of the Student Council and Boys' Club, and Catherine Hall, President of the Girls' League, some of the prominent club leaders?

M. A. T.—Yes, and Gladys Tomalonis and Selma Herrmann were heads of the Girls' Leaders Corps and Senior Dramatic Club, respectively.

S. M.—The basketball team had one of the best seasons in the school's history. I believe it lost only one game while winning thirteen or fourteen.

M. A. T.—Wasn't Antoinette Mozzicato chosen the Snow Queen at the annual Sno-Frolic?

S. M.—Yes, and what a Snow Queen she made!

M. A. T.—Why, we spent a good part of our second semester in voting for our able class officers. Louis Maradie was elected Editor-in-Chief of the Class Book, with Charles Ramsey as Assistant Editor, and Patricia Griffin, Doris Harper, Catherine Hall, Joseph Calzarette, Richard DePaolis and Richard Pobuda as associates.

S. M.—Raymond Snow headed the business board of the Class Book, assisted by Gladys Tomalonis, with Anne Ryan, Jane Sexton, John Meaney, and Roderic Procaccino as associates.

M. A. T.—Serine Ferrigno and Philip Stent were Class Essayist and Class Orator, respectively. Weren't Nancy Roser and Lawrence Fagan writers of the Class Prophecy?

S. M.—That's right, and George Kindl and Claudia Barker were class testator and testatrix, respectively. Why, I still remember "Big" George Kindl with his partner, Claudia Barker, batting their brains out writing the last will of the class of '45.

M. A. T.—It really was a job writing that Class Will, and George and Claudia have my sympathy.

S. M.—Phyllis Bogardus and Serine Ferrigno were chosen Valedictorian and Salutatorian, respectively.

M. A. T.—What is that, a bell I hear ringing? Is it the end of the first period already?

S. M.—No, Miss Tummillo, you're not in school. It is only the lunch hour bell.

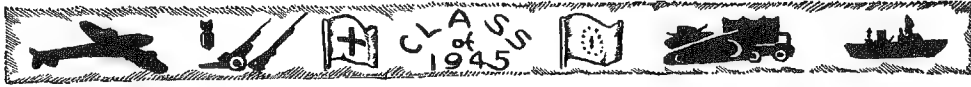

M. A. T.—Why, I thought I was still in school. My! this conversation really brought back memories of good old B. H. S.

S. M.—It sure did. Would you like to join me at lunch?

M. A. T.—I'd enjoy it, Chief.

S. M.—O. K. Let's go.

STANLEY MAH

CLASS PROPHECY

She—Operator, operator, give me Vladivostok in Russian Siberia. I want to contact Larry Fagan of the American Consulate.

He—Consul Larry Fagan speaking.

She—This is Secretary of State, Nancy Roser, in President Thomas Hynd's cabinet.

He—Nancy Roser? That name is familiar. Didn't you graduate from Bulkeley High with me?

She—Why, Consul, how nice of you to remember.

He—What can I do for you, Madame Secretary?

She—Well, I have several requests for visas. Special Envoy to Greece John Bassos must go through Russia to reach Athens. Barbara Erickson has to get to Norway immediately to mediate a strike in Bill Godfrey's sardine factory. She will be accompanied by her staff which includes Jane Hills, "Sully" Sullivan, and her secretary, John Meaney.

He—I'll have that taken care of right away. I'm interested in hearing about some of our former classmates. Did you know that Patty Clune is the Premier Danseuse with Stalin's Labor Ballet in Moscow? Vin Avallone plays the tuba in the orchestra at the same theatre. This Russian act is O. K., but give me the good old U. S. A. brand.

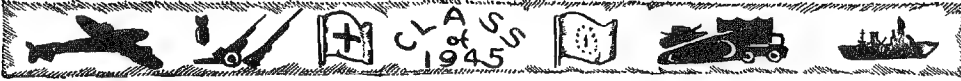

She—Well, there were rave notices this morning for a new show by Phyllis Bogardus and Serine Ferrigno in Stanley Mah's newspaper column, "Marking the Minutes with Mah," which is syndicated by the Satriano News Agency. The show, a musical comedy, has some very prominent names in its cast: Anne Ryan of the Met, and the popular comediennes Rita Luzzi and Kathleen Fox. The costumes for the show were designed by Miss Eugene Andrzejczyk, a famous name in fashions.

He—When L was home yesterday, I went to Jean Van Raalte's Club 45. I was greeted by Headwaiter Tom Sola, and Chef Fran Vignati, who served us an excellent meal. The entertainment consisted of Vocalist Larry Kerwin, the poor man's Frank Sinatra, accompanied by Gil Johnson and his Royal South Enders. An extra added attraction was the dancing team of "Peachie" Hall and "Kissy" Mozzicato.

She—Have you heard about the fabulous price Wm. Ricci Pictures Inc. has bid for Betty Carlson's "Sequel to the Great American Novel," published by Claudia Barker, Ltd.? They intend to star Academy Award winner Selma Herrmann in the lead. Either George Kindl or Johnny O'Hurley will play opposite her. If the picture is to be filmed in technicolor, camera-man Dick Pobuda, make-up artist Barbara Cook, and director "Bunky" Ramsey have been promised the assignments.

He—In today's edition of the "Russian Bear" I read that "Bud" Schwerdtfeger, assisted by "Tarzie" Clemens, has been appointed coach at Tokyo University. They will teach the Japs a la seventh period gym. Also, I was pleased to read that Pat Griffin, Doris Harper, and Sybil Roberts, the Andrews Sisters of 1955, are making a tour of all the Russian whistle stops.

She—The Stent Memorial Hospital, endowed by multi-millionaire Phil Stent, broke into the head-lines recently as a result of the world-shaking experiments being conducted by the staff heads, Dr. Steve Romaine and Dr. John Maerz. The subject of their great work is why everyone has four fingers and only one thumb. They are ably assisted by Nurse Barbara Roser, who was recently voted "Miss Nightingale of 1955." Joan Tulin, head of the occupational therapy department, is violently opposed to Drs. Romaine and Maerz's experiments and is thinking of conducting her own on why people should have six fingers and no thumbs at all.

He—Joe Stalin tells me that he asked a commission of production experts to tour Russia. The commission will be headed by Chairman Joseph Festa of the Festa Tool and Die Co. Fran Mayeda and Arthur Axelrod of the Champion Oil Co., accompanied by their secretaries, Nancy Bradley and Dot Frank, will round out the commission.

She—Artist Mike Paskov's famous painting, "One Meat-ball," is now hanging in the Washington O. P. A. office since Senators Joe Calzarette, "Tippy" Crosier, and Larry Dowd insisted that that was the place for it. "Dee" Condon, Paul Demos, and Dick DePaolis, armed only with vitamin pills, have set out to prove that the world can be circumnavigated with a rowboat. When last sighted, they were 1,690 miles from India and rowing hard!

He—From round about sources I heard that there was a crashup in front of our old alma mater. It seems that "Wild Bill" Cotter, noted racing car driver, smashed into the limousine of movie magnate "Bimbo" McCusker. Doctor Lou Maradie, accompanied by nurses Mary Sheehan and Joanne Dwyer, were right on the spot, as was "Digger" Carroll, the mortician. However, no one was hurt, only reporter Charlotte Ulrich's ambitious quest for readable news.

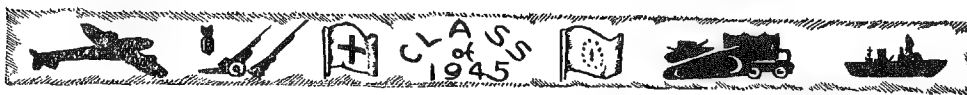

She—Ray Snow's radio program was interrupted last night to announce that the famous auto-giro designer, Fred Nizich, was slightly injured when he was testing a new propellerless, wingless, motorless, gasless model and it unexpectedly collapsed in the air. Snow's program is very popular since he has employed the services of gag writers Pat Maher and Betty Jane Stafford. Last week he had Eugene Capobianco, the brilliant harpist, as a guest artist. His program is sponsored by "Custer's Crispie Crunchies," the new breakfast cereal put out by the Elaine Custer Wheat Mills.

He—In to see me the other day was authoress Bette Cotter, whose new biography "Gladys Tomalonis, Feminine G.-Man," is just coming off the press. She says that her traveling companions "Merry" Sylvester and Van Bernier have taken up permanent residence in New York to help Cathie Collins run her publishing business.

She—Of course, some members of our class went into professional sports. No wonder. Remember the teams we had! Steve Ucich has really been busy since he was made Baseball Commissioner last year. Henry Vander Meer has taken over Steve's pennant-winning club and has retained Joe Mularz as manager for the coming year. Rod Procaccino and Frank Hale are still the best-liked "blind-men" serving on the diamond. Helen Sobanski and Lorraine Daigneault are going to the Olympics this year as representatives of the U. S. in the figure skating competition.

He—Well, time is getting short, so we had better conclude our business now. Give my regards to Governor Frank Barry and Mayor John Cavanaugh and all Hartford, and, until we meet again, Madame Secretary, good-by and good luck.

THE FOOTBALL TEAM

FOOTBALL

Congratulations to a truly great team. Not only did the Maroon eleven of 1945 garner the city title by virtue of their stunning victories over Hartford and Weaver, but for the first time in our history they returned home triumphant over New Britain on Thanksgiving Day.

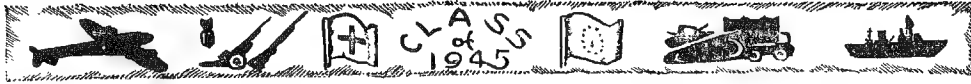

Augmented by the return of five lettermen, linemen "Tippy" Crosier, Joe Mularz, and Dick DePaolis, and backfield men "Bud" Schwerdtfeger and Jack Carroll, the Maroon and White's prospects for a victorious season were very bright indeed.

Bulkeley's first encounter ended in a startling 19-0 win over West Haven. Displaying mid-season form, they put on a brilliant passing exhibition. Schwerdtfeger, Clemens, Randazzo, and Mularz played exceptional ball in our behalf.

The following Friday thrice-beaten Bristol came to town. That day old Jupiter Pluvius split the skies open with torrents of rain as a favored Bulkeley outfit was given a whale of a battle by a determined Bristol club. The steady rain throughout the first half hampered the deadly passing attack of the Maroons, but it did not check our aggressive ground attack as we eked out a slim 13-12 victory.

In a game that was eventually to decide the district championship, the Bulkeley combine dropped a heart-breaking 13-12 decision to a great West Hartford eleven. Outplaying their opponents most of the way, a fighting Maroon squad slashed across for a touchdown in the final minutes, only to have it nullified because of a clipping penalty. This would have given us an 18-13 lead, and it is doubtful that Hall could have scored in the short time remaining. "Bud" Schwerdtfeger made the best run of the season in this game when he sped 50 yards for a touchdown through the entire Hall team after apparently being trapped behind his own line of scrimmage. It was after this game that "Sammy" Randazzo, our stellar guard, left for the Navy. His fine spirit and display of sportsmanship presented a splendid example for future Bulkeley athletes to follow.

The team then set its sights on Hartford High in the first of the city title clashes. Avenging their one-point defeat by Hall, the Allenmen virtually swept Hartford High out of rain-soaked Munie Field as they poured on a terrific touchdown barrage to win to the tune of 27-0. This was the most one-sided victory in the long series. "Bud" Schwerdtfeger, who established a new scoring record by pounding across the goal-line for three touchdowns, was awarded a trophy for being the outstanding player on the field. Jack Carroll, Fran Mayeda, and "Archie" Axelrod were excellent in the brilliant win.

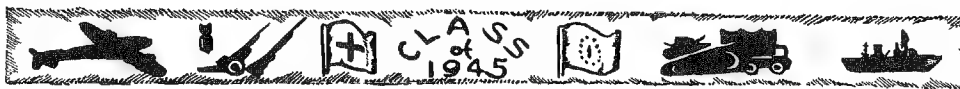

Journeying to Middletown to face a crack undefeated Woodrow Wilson team, "Babe" Allen's charges were set back on their heels by running up against the combination of a strong Wilson line and a poor job of refereeing. A long march by the Maroons in the last quarter was balked at the one inch line. Given an intentional safety by Wilson with less than a minute to go, the Allenmen came storming back only to have time run out on them. DePaolis, Bernabeo, and Crosier played an outstanding defensive game.

With revenge in their hearts over their latest loss and a keen eye on the city championship which hung in the balance, the Maroons were primed to high pitch for their Armistice Day clash with a powerful, shifty Weaver unit. The Bulkeley juggernaut crushed the Northenders 28-18 to capture the city title for the first time in four years. The thrill-packed game saw the largest point total ever set up by the two teams as "Bud" Schwerdtfeger, Gene Conroy, and Roy Grahm scintillated in the victory.

Classed as one of the state powers and given a real chance of defeating New Britain, the Bulkeley warriors invaded the Hardware City on "Turkey" Day for their annual battle with the Red and Gold. Striking with startling suddenness, the Allenmen pushed across a touchdown in the first few minutes of play as Jack Carroll exploded the New Britain line for the first touchdown. They successfully added the extra point. Playing strictly heads-up ball, the Maroons smashed every Red and Gold hope of scoring. On a quick opening play the fleet Carbo of New Britain traveled 60 yards, only to be pulled down from behind by Schwerdtfeger on the Bulkeley 10-yard line. Bulkeley's rock-like line held for four downs and the Maroons quickly kicked out of danger. Another threat at our two-yard line was stopped by our inspired, hard-charging line. In the final quarter Jack Carroll crashed 12 yards through the Red and Gold defense for our final marker, which ended the game 13-0 in our favor as the 13-year jinx was finally broken.

Jack Carroll's terrific plunging and "Bud" Schwerdtfeger's tremendous kicking, which averaged 45.5 yards throughout the game, were outstanding. Joe Mularz and Fran Mayeda were towers of strength on the Bulkeley defense as they constantly smashed down all New Britain attempts to penetrate the line. The whole team was superb in the most glorious victory in the school's history.

The team was sparked by All-State Back "Bud" Schwerdtfeger, a real bundle of ball-carrying dynamite. The great Bulkeley line was headed by Joe Mularz, Dick DePaolis, Tommy Sola, and Bobby Barry at Ends; Guards "Sammy" Randazzo, "Tippy" Crosier, "Archie" Axelrod, and Jimmy DiGalbo; Tackles Lou Bernabeo, Roy Grahm, and "Zaza" Zazzaro; and Center Fran Mayeda. In the sparkling back-field which was one of the best ever to represent the school were Jack Carroll, "Tarz" Clemens, Gene Conroy, Larry Kerwin, "Bud" Mazzuchi, and Dan Simeone.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our coach "Babe" Allen who guided our team through an unparalleled season. We hope that never again will he have to eat a Thanksgiving dinner in gloom.

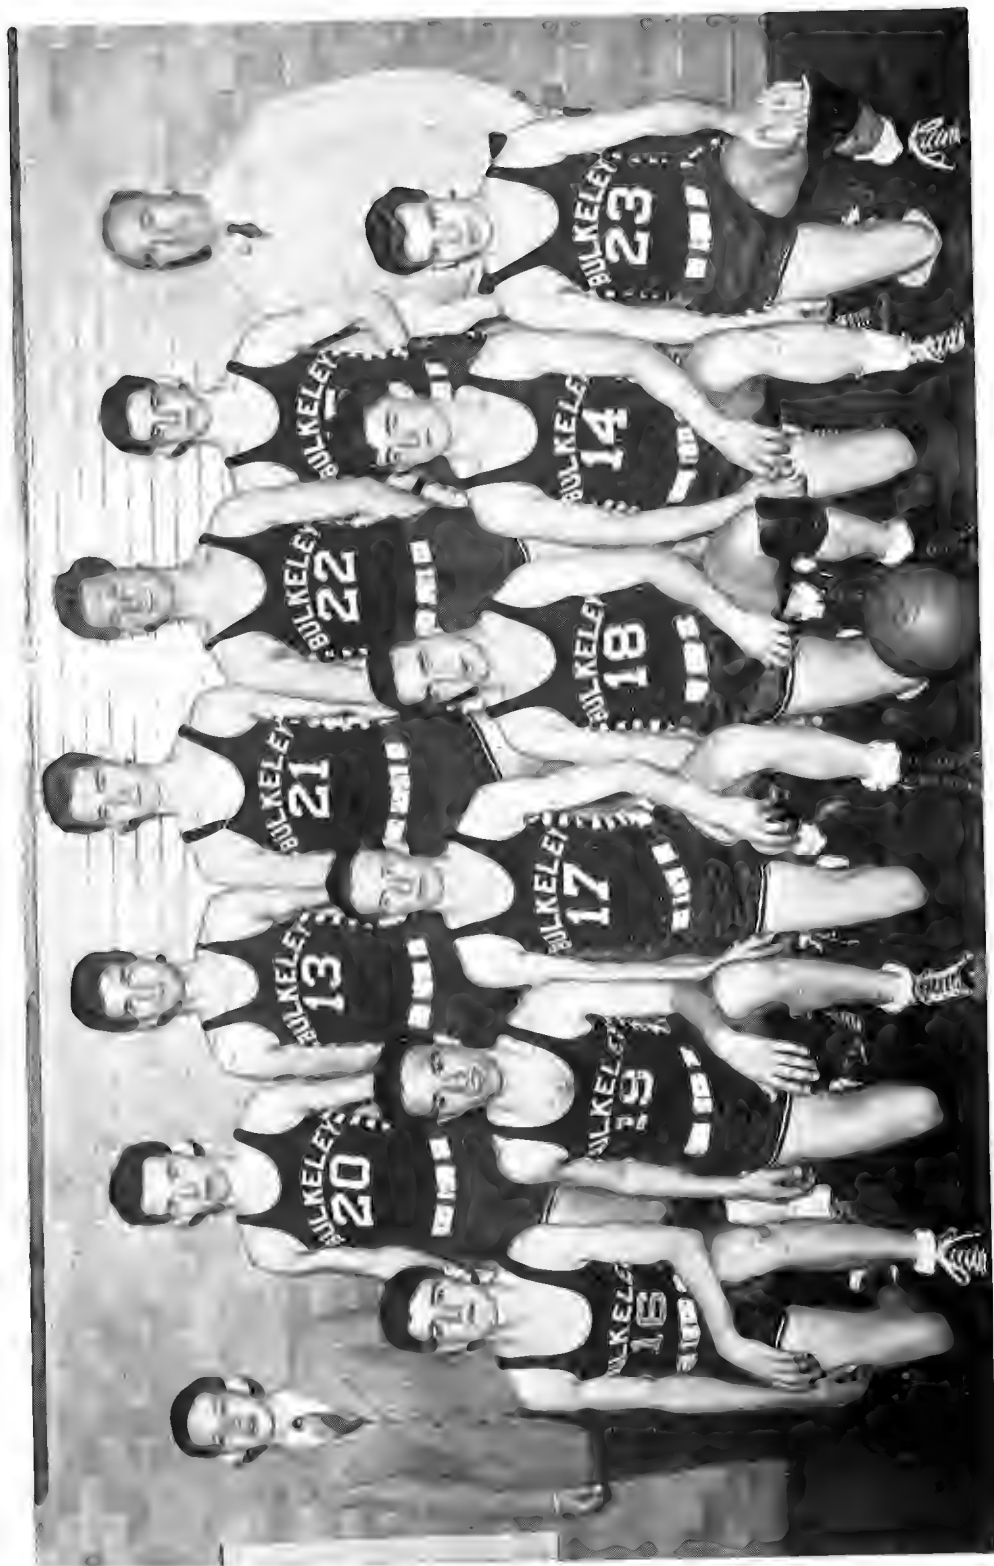

The record for the year stands:

THE BASKETBALL TEAM

BASKETBALL

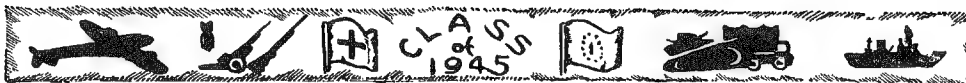

As we congratulated the football team for its splendid season, so shall we congratulate the basketball squad on its magnificent record. Never before in Bulkeley history has one year brought forth such championship teams as has the year 1944-1945. The Maroon hoopsters, not to be outdone by the football squad, established a new Bulkeley record by gaining thirteen wins to but one defeat during the regular season, and in the process annexing the city and district titles. Still not satisfied, they went to New Haven to become the first Bulkeley quintet ever to win a tournament game.

"Babe" Allen had indeed a wealth of material from which to fashion his classy outfit at the advent of the season. With the return of four lettermen, Richie Romano, Joe Mularz, Steve Ucich, and "Bunky" Ramsey, the veteran Maroon squad presented a formidable array of sharpshooters. Adding to their pre-season prestige, they began their court season with a 43-34 win over a better than fair Woodrow Wilson outfit. Displaying a close zone defense, which incidentally they used throughout the season, and some excellent sniping on the part of Romano and Mularz, the Maroon and White looked every man a champion.

Following this victory they turned back a grand Weaver team 27-26, to take the lead for the city title in what was probably the most exciting home court game of the year. Romano again led the Maroon scoring, as O'Brien, Mularz, and Ramsey played magnificent defensive games.

Hanging an impressive 42-30 defeat on a good New Britain outfit, the Southenders gained momentum as Romano and Ucich led the scoring parade with 18 and 10 points, respectively. East Hartford was rudely bounced by our boys to the tune of 38-23. A strong second half enabled the Allenmen to earn their fourth straight victory. In the second City Title game, a fighting Hartford High quintet was badly trounced as the Maroon tornado swept to a 51-34 victory. Again our accurate shooting and superior floor play were the factors in our easy win.

In the second meeting with the boys over East, the Bulkeley cagers administered a 44-33 lacing, as they unleashed a lethal barrage of hoops from all angles of the court. A smaller Meriden outfit fell by the wayside as the Bulkeley juggernaut overwhelmed them, 45-29. For the seventh straight game Romano led the scorers as O'Brien and Grabolis played a fine supporting game. Journeying to the Hopkins Street gym, the Allenmen steamrolled to their third City Title win by a decisive 35-20 score. Ucich with fourteen points was the sparkplug in the victory.

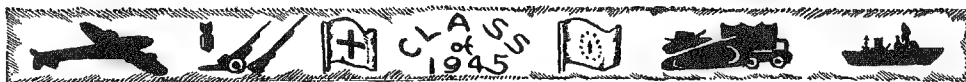

A weak West Hartford team was subdued 50-29 by the devastating Maroon onslaught. Romano tallied twenty points for his highest total of the season. The undefeated Southenders ran their victory list to ten straight as they won out over a powerful Weaver array 33-27, taking their second City Title of the year. The whole team was brilliant in the win as Romano put on his most sterling performance of the year. A greatly improved New Britain quintet shattered the hopes of the Maroons for an undefeated season by handing them their first and only defeat of the season 43-32. The Hardware City boys rose to the heights by playing an inspired game that finally brought the kingpin Bulkeley basketball squad its first loss.

Recovering from the shock of the New Britain defeat, Bulkeley's battling basketballers "blitzed" an outclassed Woodrow Wilson five 40-13, as they returned to winning form. On Meriden's court the Silver City boys proved dogged opponents, only to have the Southenders emerge victorious in the last ten seconds of play on Joe Mularz's foul shot, 36-35. Closing the season in proper form, the aggressive Allenmen annihilated an undermanned West Hartford club, 45-24. Mularz and Romano led the team in its victorious conclusion.

Sporting the second best record in the state with thirteen triumphs and but one setback, the Maroon and White qualified for the state tournament at New Haven. Regarded as one of the state powers and considered a favorite to cop the title, the Allenmen drew a supposedly weak Leavenworth team as its playdown opponent. In a ding dong battle that saw the lead change hands several times, the Southenders finally tipped the scale in their favor during the last minute of play, 39-38. The play of Ucich and Mularz was outstanding for the Maroons. So for the first time in the annals of Bulkeley basketball, one of its representatives had emerged triumphant in a tournament game.

Entering the quarter finals against an evenly matched Torrington squad, the Allenmen played their best game of the season only to lose a terrific heart breaker in the last few seconds of play. For the full thirty-two minutes the two teams put on as brilliant an exhibition of basketball as was ever witnessed at any game in tournament history. Basket after basket rattled through the hoops as both squads displayed uncanny shot-making ability with averages that came close to the unbelievable. Leading by four points, with but fifty seconds remaining, Bulkeley suddenly collapsed as their opponents threw in two fast hoops. A successful conversion of a foul try gave the Southenders a one point advantage. This, however, was short lived, for Torrington, not to be outdone, climaxed the thrill-packed game with a spectacular one-handed hoop to clinch the victory with but nine seconds remaining, 47-46. Although the whole team was excellent, Ucich and Mularz sparkled above the rest in this valiant but losing cause.

The Allenmen for the regular season achieved an average of 40.1 points per game to the opposition's 28.6 as they tallied 561 points to their opponents' 400. The performance of the six regulars—Romano, Ucich, Mularz, O'Brien, Grabolis, and Ramsey—along with the able reserves, "Bud" Schwerdtfeger, Lou Garvey, and "Sully" Sullivan, was of championship caliber throughout the year. Sharpshooting Richie Romano led the district in the individual scoring race by swishing 197 points for a sizzling 14.1 average which ranked him with the State's highest. Level-headed Steve Ucich and fighting Joe Mularz ended up third and fourth, respectively, in the city scoring. Towering "OB" O'Brien was invaluable with his great work under the opponents' hoop, as he controlled all rebounds. Deadly Lenny Grabolis' set shots were a constant threat in every encounter, and spunky "Bunky" Ramsey was a continual thorn in the opposition side, as he foiled many an offensive threat with his tireless guarding. Together, these boys, with their fine ability, spirit, and team play, made up what will always be remembered as the finest basketball team yet to represent Bulkeley High.

So, once again, congratulations to a truly great team and a great coach.

THE BASEBALL TEAM

BASEBALL

Although the last batter has not been called "out" by a bawling umpire as we go to press, the Bulkeley High Baseball team of 1945 has given a good account of itself.

With the return of lettermen "Bud" Schwerdtfeger, "Bunky" Ramsey, Steve Ucich, and Earl Ludlam, along with a seasoned group of veterans, the Maroon and White diamond forces were determined not to be overshadowed by their illustrious predecessors, the football and basketball teams.

The pitching staff was composed of Earl Ludlam, George D'Amato, and "Lefty" Johnson, while behind the plate were Tommy Williams and Cliff Ek. Steve Ucich held down the first base position, with Frank Barry and "Bunky" Ramsey making a stalwart keystone combination. Third base was under the supervision of Tommy Sola, with able assistance from Gene Conroy. Roaming the outer gardens was "Bud" Schwerdtfeger, "Bud" Mazzuchi, Joe Mularz, and Bobby Barry.

The heavy stick work was provided by the booming bats of "Bud" Schwerdtfeger and Joe Mularz. Frank Barry and "Bunky" Ramsey were defensive standouts, while Tommy Sola and Tommy Williams gave rival pitchers many an anxious moment with their base-pilfering tactics.

And so we come to the climax of a grand season and the end of the great Bulkeley teams of 1945.

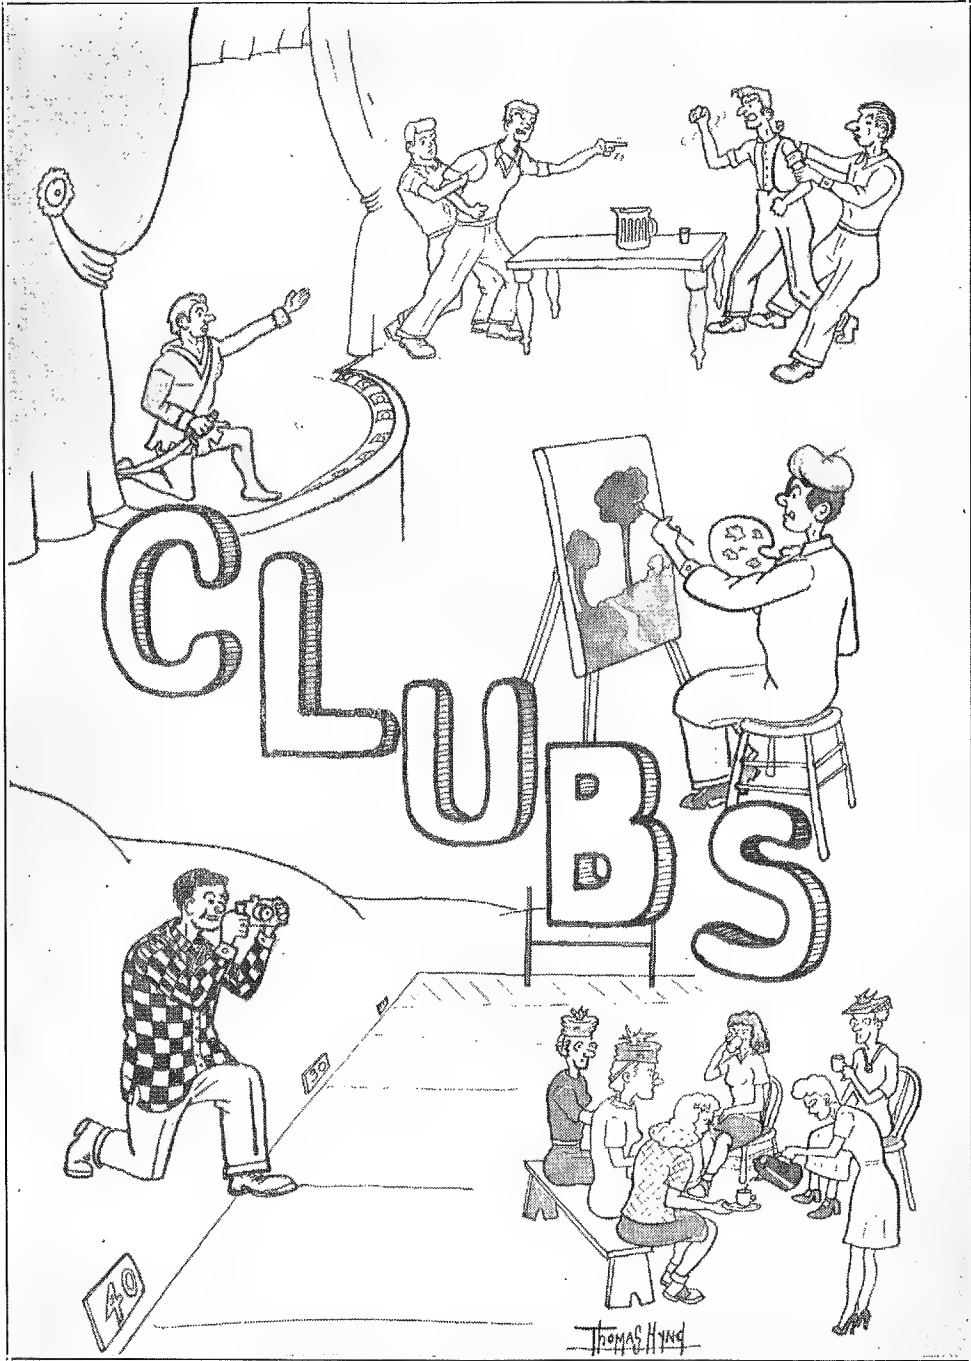

TRACK

Filled with a fighting spirit and the will to win, a closely knit track squad took the field to represent Bulkeley on the cinders. The boys presented a combination that was hard to beat.

Leading the team were lettermen Gene Capobianco and John Maerz. Capobianco starred in the dashes and running broad jump, while Maerz was outstanding in the mile. Nils Sandner, another holdover from last year's squad, dominated the field in the javelin throw, with able assistance from Tony Michalik. Big Sarkis Boornazian stood alone in the discus, while Frank Vignati added valuable points. Jack Carroll, Dick DePaolis, and Martin D'Auris composed a formidable trio of shot put men. Valuable also in the 100- and 200-yard dashes were Ray Blondin and "Stauch" Hynd. Paul Demos in the quarter mile, and "Sy" Schwartz, Wally Smith, and Paul O'Farrell in the half mile, along with Bobby Barry in the mile, made up the remainder of the longer distance runners. "Red" Kidney, soaring high in the pole vault, rounded out the small but talented squad.

SENIOR HONOR SOCIETY

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

Honor Society

The Bulkeley Chapter of the National Honor Society was established in January, 1927, soon after the school opened its doors, and was granted the 555th Charter issued by the national organization. It is composed of juniors and seniors selected from the 33 per cent of the highest ranking students in each class. Election is made by a special committee appointed by the Principal, and is based not only on scholarship but also on service, leadership, and character. Not more than 15 per cent is ever elected from a given class.

The purpose of the Honor Society is to promote leadership, to encourage scholarship, to arouse a desire to perform worthy service within the school and outside of it, and to stimulate the development of the highest type of character among high school pupils. The Honor Society on the secondary school level is equivalent to Phi Beta Kappa in college.
